

ATHLETE WITH POOR BIOMECHANCS, HOW POOR IS THE CASE?

Uzm. Dr. Ömer Batın Gözübüyük

Our study aimed to assess recent attitude and behaviors of Sports and Exercise Physicians (registrars and specialists) toward outpatient clinic-based biomechanical evaluations. Online questionnaires are developed and distributed personally to numerous cities of Turkey. Telephone feed-backs were given in order to achieve high response rates. Results will be discussed, classifying levels of education and possible relationship with biomechanical evaluations and if possible, recent evidence suggestions of their usage will be outlined.